“Bringing Edification, Exhortation, and Comfort to the Body of Christ Worldwide”

From the bookshelf by Ray DeLea

I have read many biographies and autobiographies of missionaries (apostles) but one of my most favorites is “Lillian Trasher Nile Mother” by Lester Sumrall. This is a monumental work of faith, courage, and persistence on the part of a divinely called apostle of the Lord. This book recounts Lillian’s life and of the founding, maintenance, and vicissitudes of her orphanage in Assiut, Egypt. It recounts “Mama” Trasher’s early life, her call to Egypt, and the clear providences of God which led her to Assiut. It recounts life in her orphanage, its problems, its escapes from annihilation, the Lord’s preserving watch-care over it, the great spiritual revival which swept the children into the kingdom, transformed their lives, and gave many of them places of responsibility in the life of Egypt. It is an inspiring account of what God can accomplish through the simple faith, fortitude, and courage of one wholly yielded to God.
