

Praise Reports

I've been in a season of answered prayer these days and I am rejoicing in the Lord daily. Here are two examples of God's goodness and the results of much prayer. First, my granddaughter, Claire, who had been to a Christian camp this past summer for the second year in a row, told me she was teaching and showing her cousin Addie her prayer journal from her camp experience and that Addie wanted one also. Not only was Claire learning the Word, she was teaching it to her cousin!. This is one incredible miracle as neither parent is a believer. My other example is about my daughter, Kristen. She is a researcher in nano science. She received a tremendous and rare promotion at her job. God showed me is was because she had refused a promotion several years back. She did not want to trade her children's stability for getting the promotion. She just could not come to grips with that at the time. God is an awesome rewarder. Thank you RDM for standing with us and our families. I am praising Jesus for all of this but recognize the great importance of prayer and being in agreement at the same time. D.C.

This happened last Saturday. I attribute where I have arrived spiritually to my growth in RDM over the past several years. I walked into the prayer room where my Pastor was sitting, I saw four people breaking through the ceiling and bring down the paralyzed as in the Bible. The Lord showed me there was enough faith in the room for miracles. It would have been impossible for me to reach that level of faith, that the Lord would trust me to pray to release miracles to other people, without me being at RDM. Thank you Ray and Pattie I am so grateful to you. M.M.

Monday I went in to have a stint put in an artery to open it up. First, they checked all my arteries before the procedure. I recalled that fifteen years ago Jesus gave me a vision and two dreams and healed my heart. In fact, I was surprised they said I had a heart attack and needed a stint. After they examined all my arteries, they concluded that no, I did not need a stint as the three hour test indicated. Praise God, Praise God forever. He is never wrong and cannot lie. Thanking Jesus daily and thanking RDM for your prayers over the years for me and my wife. C.B.

I wanted to let you know I received your encouraging note with Scripture verses etc. Thank you as it is keeping me going in this trying time. I'll soon start my cancer support group meetings in San Luis Obispo. I was watching Joseph Prince last week and was about to change the channel, when the Holy Spirit stopped me. I continued watching, I had been meditating on the Word of God, suddenly, he looked directly into the camera and said "There is someone waiting for a stem cell transplant for your bone marrow." Then he recited Hebrews 4:12 For the Word of God is living and active, sharper than any double edged sword, piercing to the division of soul and spirit, of joints and marrow. I started weeping and knew that word was for me. God bless you and all the RDM team for continuing to keep me in your prayers. K.R.

I want to thank Ray and Pattie at RDM for accepting me into this little family of believers. Years ago I committed to be part of RDM. I recently joined a prayer group at my church and I believe, as a result of being in RDM, I was able to move in the word of knowledge and the gift of prophesy at my church. Thank you for all you do. M.M.

I requested prayer from RDM team for my precious grandson, Andrew, who graduated from fire school at the top of his class. He needed his papers from the school before being granted employment. After much prayer, the red tape holding up the release of the paperwork, was broken and he now has the papers which had been held up for many months. Praise God, He answers our prayers. K.H.

After my Mom fell recently the doctor. said she had fractured her patella in several spots. However, all the pieces are still aligned in the proper place, so no surgery would be needed. This is a miracle. Mom is in her ninety's. Thank you to all the prayer team for standing with us in agreement. Thank you also for praying for my sister, Carrie and myself as we are caring for our Mom, who is immobile at this time. Praising the Lord. N.D.

Through the Seasons of Life

by Denise Shick / Living Stones Ministry

Come to Me, all who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest. Matthew 11:28

As fall arrives, nature quietly shifts. The long, bright days of summer slip away, and in their place come cooler breezes, shorter evenings, and trees dressed in amber and crimson. For some, it's a favorite season—a time to walk country roads in cozy sweatshirts and take in the peaceful beauty of leaves dancing in the wind.

I often think back to the autumns of my past, especially in Pennsylvania. There, the falling leaves didn't just blanket the ground—they created something that looked like a collage, a work of art. And I can't help but see the connection to our lives.

Just as autumn leaves fall in various colors and stages, so do the moments of our lives. Some are radiant and joyful; others feel brittle and broken. But when surrendered to God, all of them—all of them—become part of a beautiful, sacred story.

Life often brings us to places of deep heartache: watching loved ones struggle, seeing others walk outside of God's good design, carrying personal burdens we were never meant to carry alone. But Scripture reminds us that Jesus doesn't ask us to do life in our own strength. He says, "Come to Me." Not when we have it all together, but when we are weary, burdened, and barely holding on.

He invites us to rest—not the rest of escapism or distraction, but a soul-deep rest found in knowing Him, thirsting Him, and walking with Him.

Even in seasons of sorrow or uncertainty, God is doing something beautiful beneath the surface. Our pain is not wasted. Our story is not random. He is making something meaningful—a divine collage of grace that will be every bit as breathtaking as fall foliage when He completes it.

Word for 2026

From Pattie DeLea

Prepare, prepare your heart
Prepare your minds
For My "RESET" is now underway
Do not wonder, do not stray
Keep your eyes in focus
See with your Spirit man
All I am doing in this land!
For "I own all" says the Lord your God
So do not think it strange, nor odd
Many forces do come against
But I've given you authority
Don't sit on the fence!
My Spirit is moving in this hour
Moving in strength, moving in power
In the natural all is topsy turvy
But I'm in charge when the path looks curvy
Lean on My Holy Spirit within, He knows the way
Around every barrier, every day.
Focus your heart, look not to the right, nor to the left
But straight ahead and you'll be deft
In seeing and knowing My purpose and ways!
Yes, change, upheaval, chaos everywhere
But you, believer, have nothing to fear
"I Am" is your anchor and your King
Make sure, this year, He is your everything!
Keep your eyes steady and sure
Look to Him, He is the cure
It is not the time to be in fear
But to rejoice and know My return is very near,
It is not the time to be in sin
You must fully devote all to your King
All without and all within !
You are the branches, I am the Vine
Get your nourishment from Me
And you will find
Without Me, there is nothing you can do
But in Me there is Victory true,
Recall to your heart, Whom you must please
It is the "Audience of One"
He Who gave His all and died to see
You, from death, hell, and the grave set free!
In all things upon Him call
He is your God, your all in all.
